INTRODUCTION

A grocery store is a retail store that primarily sells food. A grocer is a bulk seller of food. As pollution the world has increased buying food on the road side is not advisable. Whether in change of a small individually owned grocery store or one that is part of larger chain maintaining a grocery store successfully involves considerable responsibility. The “Grocery Store” has been developed to override the problems prevailing in the practicing manual system. This software is supported to eliminate and, in some cases, reduce the hardships faced by this existing system. Moreover this system is designed for the particular need of the company to carry out operations in a smooth and effective manner.

Primarily, a grocery store is a retail outlet that sells perishable and non-perishable foods, ranging from fruits, delis, butchers, cans bottles and boxes. But competition is making some consumers to be confused about identifying pure groceries and other types of retail stores. Formerly, few stores serve shoppers in a community or vicinity with their foods and beverage needs. Now, there are dozens of retail channels in all nooks and cranny operating as partial groceries but not entirely supermarkets. Grocery store managers must ensure that the store runs smoothly that items are priced comparatively and that customers are satisfied. People are unable to find time to household works like buying grocery. So by this platform we provide grocery.

This is an Internet based application that can be accessed throughtout the web. This system can be used to search for all grocery and fresh vegetables which are available in the market.

“Health and wealth”. As the saying goes from our ancient times. Eat healthy and stay healthy as of now a day it’s very difficult to have healthy food.

The application is reduced as much as possible to avoid errors while entering the data. It also provides error message while entering invalid data. No formal knowledge is needed for the user this system. Thus by this all it proves it is user-friendly. Grocery Store System, as described above, can lead to error free, secure, reliable and fast management system. It can assist the user to concentrate on their other activities rather to concentrate on the record keeping. Thus it will help organization in better utilization of resources.

Every organization, whether big or small, has challenges to overcome and managing the information of Product, Customer, Product Type, Stock, Supplier. Every Grocery Store System has different Customer needs; therefore we design exclusive employee management systems that are adapted to your managerial requirements. This is designed to assist in strategic planning, and will help you ensure that your organization is equipped with the right level of information and details for your future goals. Also, for those busy executives who are always on the go, our systems come with remote access features, which will allow you to manage your workforce anytime, at all time. This system will ultimately allow you to better manage resources. Understanding of key concept involved in effective grocery store management is imperative for any managers dedicated to the success of his store. Particularly if the managers the small grocery store inventory requires more than simply keeping enough of every item in stock.

OBJECTIVES

Small grocery store has many objectives. They usually outline these objectives in their business plans well before the start of new fiscal years. These companies can best reach their objectives by staying customer-focused, offering products and services their customers want. That is why most grocery store companies also develop comprehensive marketing plans to reach their key objectives. Marketing plans help the owners better define their target customers and store concepts, such as whether they serve specialty markets like organic food eaters.

- Building Sales and Profits

The major objective of most grocery store companies is to sell products and earn the highest profits possible. However, grocery store owners face major competition from other retailers like restaurants and mass merchandisers.

- Increasing Customer Traffic

Small grocery store companies also strive for more customer traffic in their stores. The best way to achieve high customer traffic levels is to locate stores in high-traffic areas. This may include business districts or areas close to residential or apartment buildings. Customer traffic can also be enhanced by providing plenty of parking spaces and easy access to and from major roads. Owners can also increase customer traffic by providing proper lighting and security for those who shop at night. For example, a small ethnic grocer may hire a security guard at night to patrol the parking lot.

- Building Customer Loyalty

Small grocery store companies aim to increase customer loyalty in their stores. Loyal customers are those who repeatedly come back each week. One way a small grocer builds a repeat customer base is through loyalty programs. Loyalty programs are designed to reward customers according to their purchase volumes. These rewards can include coupons on popular items or even free products. Grocers may distribute magnetic stripe cards to track customers' purchases. These plastic cards can be obtained through marketing agencies that specialize in merchandising.

- Improving Department Ratings

Some grocery store companies conduct periodic marketing research on their various departments: Produce, deli, meat, dairy and customer service. The impetus behind such research is that grocery stores are only as strong as their weakest link. Customers expect high-quality food and exceptional service when shopping for groceries. They expect the quality and service to be the same whether they are shopping for dairy products or produce. Grocers can hire marketing research agencies to conduct phone surveys among customers, for example. Each department may be rated on quality, service, cleanliness and other key factors.

- Pollution free

Eliminate the unwanted patrol of window shoppers who take up space in various shops and markets. This goes a long way to reduce human traffic in our markets.

- No need to convenience

To minimize the difficulty of business owners from finding customers and reducing the cost of advertisement which are paid to most radio and television stations who genuinely allocate smallest of their broadcast time to such broadcast.

- Enhancement of products

It is easy for business man to expand their own business through online grocery stores and any other online application. without any restrictions we explore our app in other countries also.

- low losses

Extremely minimize the losses due to shoplifting and cost associated with security.

PRELIMINARY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

▪ Preliminary System analysis

1) Purpose – Modelling users' interactions online is envisaged to allow developers to increase the usability of online systems and will aid system developers in building better systems to meet users' needs, hereby creating better system design processes. This paper aims to investigate this issue.

2) Design/methodology/approach – The normative task model that was developed in this paper was created through an expert review of 14 online grocery stores, using a reverse engineering technique to model the features of the stores' ordering process.

3) Findings – The research identified three main areas of user experience when undertaking the process of adding a product to an online trolley: attempting to retrieve the product, receiving the results of the retrieval attempt, and adding the product to the trolley. These three classifications were used as the basis for an analysis of errors.

4) Practical implications – The findings present a model that can be used to further understand the processes of customers as they engage in an online grocery shopping visit. The normative task model presented is expected to help in the future design of online grocery stores by identifying the possible errors that users can encounter, and methods to reduce the occurrence of these errors. Errors are one area that traditional task-modelling processes ignore, due to their focus on successful processes.

5) Originality/value – This paper presents the innovative process of the development of a normative task model for modelling user interactions when using online grocery stores.

❖ Preliminary investigation

The first step in the system development lifecycle is the preliminary investigation to determine the feasibility of the system the purpose of the preliminary investigation is to evaluate project requests. It is not designed study nor does it include the collection of details to describe the business systems in all respect. Rather it is the collecting of information that Helps committee members to evaluate the merits of the project requests and make an informed judgement about the feasibility of the proposed project.

Analyses working on the Preliminary investigation should accomplish the following objective:

- 1) Clarify and understand the project requests.
- 2) Determine the size of the project.
- 3) Assess cost and benefits of alternative approaches.
- 4) Determine the technical and operational

▪ Benefit to organization

The organization will obviously be able to get benefits such as saving in operating cost reduction in paper work better utilization of Human resources and more presentable image increasing good will.

• The initial cost

The initial cost of setting up the system will include the cost of hardware software (os add-on software utilities) & labor (set up and maintenance) the same has to bear by the organization.

• Running cost

Besides the initial cost of the long-term cost will include the running Cost for the system including the system including the AMC stationary charges cost for human resources cost for update/renewal of various related software.

❖ Present system in use

Online grocery shopping is catching up with consumers rapidly. According to Oriana Research, the global online grocery market would grow at a CAGR of 23.7 % in the period of 2020- 2025. One more research suggests that the grocery ecommerce business is expected to reach $250 Billion in the next five years.

No doubt, this forecast will get a lot of entrepreneurs interested in the grocery eCommerce market. The purpose of this blog is to help such entrepreneurs gain an in-depth understanding of how an online grocery marketplace works, various revenue channels, key features along with useful tips and growth hacks to get a head start in the market.

❖ Flaws in present system

Ease of use is the prime reason that drives the success of e-commerce. Though internet provides a quick and easy way to purchase a product, some people prefer to use this technology only in a limited way. They regard internet as a means for gathering more information about a product before buying it in a shop. Some people also fear that they might get addicted to online shopping

1. Delay in delivery: long duration and lack of proper inventory management result in delays in shipment.
2. Lack of significant discounts in online shops: Physical stores offer discounts to customers and attract them so this makes it difficult for e-tailers to compete with the offline platforms.
3. Lack of touch and feel of merchandise in online shopping: Lack of touch-feel-try creates concerns over the quality of the product on offer. Online shopping is not quite suitable for clothes as the customers cannot try them on.
4. Lack of interactivity in online shopping Physical stores allow price negotiations between buyers and the seller.
5. Lack of shopping experience the traditional shopping exercise provides lot of fun in the form of show-room atmosphere, smart sales attendants, scent and sounds that cannot be experienced through a website.
6. Lack of close examination in online shopping A customer has to buy a product without seeing actually how it looks like. Customers may click and buy some product that is not really required by them. The electronic images of a product are sometimes misleading. The color, appearance in real may not match with the electronic images.
7. Frauds in online shopping Sometimes, there is disappearance of shopping site itself. In addition to above, the online payments are not much secured.

❖ Need of new system

- India is undoubtedly one of the fastest-growing economies in the world. In fact, it is projected to become the third-largest economy by 2030. Among the sectors responsible for India's tremendous growth, the retail sector accounts for over 10% of India's GDP. Out of that, the grocery market, in particular, has turned into a pillar of support for the economy.
- Due to constantly evolving consumer lifestyles, growing urbanization, the advent of a tech-savvy generation with busier lifestyles, and growth in disposable incomes, there has been increased acceptance for online grocery shopping. A report shows that the global online grocery industry is expected to grow by 60% from 2019 to 2022.
- Today, the online grocery market amasses a significant market share in India's food and grocery market and is valued at $2.9 billion as of 2020. With favorable government policies and rising demands in the market, the market is predicted to outgrow itself in the coming years. The preference for online grocery delivery skyrocketed during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- After all, online grocery shopping is convenient, safe, and adheres to social distancing standards. All these make consumers throng to online grocery platforms for their daily needs. With a large section of the workforce working from home and a general apprehension to venture out, online grocery shopping has become more of a necessity than a luxury.
- To stop the pollution.

FEASIBILITY STUDY

INTRODUCTION

A feasibility study is an analysis that considers all of a project's relevant factors—including economic, technical, legal, and scheduling considerations—to ascertain the likelihood of completing the project successfully. A feasibility study evaluates the practicality of your project plan in order to judge whether or not you're able to move forward with the project. Project managers use feasibility studies to discern the pros and cons of undertaking a project before they invest a lot of time and money into it. A feasibility study analyzes the viability of a project to determine whether the project or venture is likely to succeed. The study is also designed to identify potential issues and problems that could arise from pursuing the project.

- TECHNICAL FRASIBILITY

A technical feasibility study reviews the technical resources available for your project. This study determines if you have the right equipment, enough equipment, and the right technical knowledge to complete your project objectives. For Example, if the current computers are operating at 80 percent capacity and arbitrary ceiling then running another application could overload the system or require addition hardware. Technical feasibility also involves the evaluation of the hardware, software, and other technical requirements of the proposed system.

- ECONOMICS FEASIBILITY

Economic feasibility refers to the feasibility of the considered project to produce economic benefits. A benefit-cost analysis is needed. Furthermore, the economic feasibility of a project can also be evaluated by breakeven analysis. In order to facilitate the consistent basis for the evaluation, the tangible and intangible facets of a project must be translated into economic terms. Economic feasibility is critical even when the project is non-profit in nature. It also serves as an independent project assessment and enhances project credibility—helping decision-makers determine the positive economic benefits to the organization that the proposed project will provide.

- MARKET FEASIBILITY

The market feasibility study is an evaluation of how your team expects the project's deliverables to perform in the market. This part of the report includes a market analysis, market competition breakdown, and sales projections. Market feasibility studies are different from the marketing plan. feasibility studies are usually conducted based on ideas, products. campaigns, processes, businesses, and trends in the market. Feasibility studies are done based on how things are happening in the current market, how the market will respond to the product, and the potential advantages and problems that may arise.

- OPERATIONAL FEASIBILITY

An operational feasibility study evaluates whether or not your organization is able to complete this project. This includes staffing requirements, organizational structure, and any applicable legal requirements. This assessment involves undertaking a study to analyze and determine whether—and how well—the organization's needs can be met by completing the project. Operational feasibility studies also examine how a project plan satisfies the requirements identified in the requirements analysis phase of system development.

- BEHAVIORAL FEASIBILITY

Behavioral visibility is the analysis of behavior of the candidate system in this we analyse that the candidate system is working properly or not if working that it communicating proper with the environment or not all these matters are analyse and a good candidate system is prepared due to the change of system what is the change in behaviour of the users this factors are also analysed it includes how strong the reaction of staff will be towards the development of the new system that involves computers used in Daily life.

PROJECT CATEGORY

PROJECT CATEGORY

A category of a project is website named “Grocery Store”. A web pages are designed using HTML, CSS, PHP, JavaScript. Form a homepage various pages are linked containing different information. A web pages gives a complete information to customers related to grocery shop. CASCADING STYLING SHEETS AND HYPER TEXT MARKUP LANGUAGE (HTML), JAVASCRIPT.

PROGRAMMING LANGUAGE USED IN PROJECT

- HTML: - HYPERTEXT MARKUP LANGUAGE
- Hypertext markup language is used for designing different web pages and if appearance. Due of HTML tags different special effect of text, pictures, animation effect, color, effect, text size, font styles etc. can define to make more attractive web page. To understand different web page construction strategies adopted for attractive web page. To understand different web page construction strategies adopted for attractive web page representation, we can observe HTML codes or store while browsing the web page. Most of the web pages in different website are build up with HTML code.
- Hypertext Markup Language (HTML) is the standard markup language for creating web pages and web application. With cascading style sheets (CSS) and JavaScript it forms a triad of cornerstone technologies for the World Wide Web. Web browser receive HTML documents from a Web server or form local storage and render them into multimedia webpages.
- HTML elements are the building blocks of HTML pages. With HTML constructs, images and other objects such as interactive forms may be embedded into the rendered page. HTML providers a means to create structured documents by denoting structural semantics for text such as headings, paragraphs, lists, links, quotes and other items. HTML elements are delineated by tags, written using angle brackets. Tags such as and <input/> directly introduce content into the page. Others tags such as  surround and provide information about document text and may include other tags as sub-elements. Browsers do not display the HTML tags, but use them to interpret the content of the page.

- HTML can embed programs written in a scripting language such as JavaScript, which affects the behaviour and content of web pages. Inclusion of CSS defines the look and layout of content.

- PHP: - PERSONAL HOME PAGE
- Hypertext Preprocessor is a general - purpose programming language originally designed for web development. It was originally created by Rasmus Lerdorf in 1994. PHP is a widely-used open-source general-purpose scripting language that is especially suited for web development and can be embedded into HTML. The PHP code is enclosed in special start and end processing instructions that allow you to jump into and out of "PHP mode.
- PHP code may be executed with a command line interface (CLI), embedded into HTML code, or used in combination with various web template systems, web content management systems, and web frameworks. PHP code is usually processed by a PHP interpreter implemented as a module in a web server or as a Common Gateway Interface (CGI) executable. The web server outputs the results of the interpreted and executed PHP code, which may be any type of data, such as generated HTML code or binary image data. PHP can be used for many programming tasks outside of the web context, such as standalone graphical applications and robotic drone control.

BASIC SYNTAX OF PHP

<!DOCTYPE html>
<html>
<body>
<h1>My first PHP page</h1>
<?php
echo "Hello World!";

</body>

- CSS: - CASCADING STYLE SHEET

- Cascading Style Sheets (CSS) is a style sheet language used for describing the presentation of a document written in a markup language like HTML. CSS is a cornerstone technology of the World Wide Web, alongside HTML and JavaScript.
- CSS is designed to enable the separation of presentation and content, including layout, colors, and fonts. This separation can improve content accessibility; provide more flexibility and control in the specification of presentation characteristics; enable multiple web pages to share formatting by specifying the relevant CSS in a separate .CSS file, which reduces complexity and repetition in the structural content; and enable the .CSS file to be cached to improve the page load speed between the pages that share the file and its formatting.
- Separation of formatting and content also makes it feasible to present the same markup page in different styles for different rendering methods, such as on-screen, in print, by voice (via speech-based browser or screen reader), and on Braille-based tactile devices. CSS also has rules for alternate formatting if the content is accessed on a mobile device. The name cascading comes from the specified priority scheme to determine which style rule applies if more than one rule matches a particular element. This cascading priority scheme is predictable.

❖ BASICS STRUCTURE OF THE WEBSITE

❖ TAGS

• HTML TAG

This is the first tag in every HTML document. This tag indicates that the content of the file is in HTML language. You should always use this. The entire document is placed between the `<HTML>` start and `</HTML>` end tags.

• HEAD TAG

The `<HEAD>` elements include the information about the HTML document. Information given within the `<HEAD>` is not displayed as part of the web page content. This section is not visible on the webpage but it carries important information about the document.

• TITLE TAG

The page title can be seen in the browser window tab and when you bookmark the site in your favorites. The `<title>` tag defines the title of the document. The title must be text-only, and it is shown in the browser's title bar or in the page's tab. The `<title>` tag is required in HTML documents. The last tag `</title>`, means that tag title now ends. You can end any tag by putting a backslash (`/`) after the less than sign.

• BODY TAGS

The `<body>` elements form the main body of the HTML document. We can use `<BODY>` tag to specify background color and margin of text in an HTML page. This body tag is basically block level tags that specify what the web browser should display in the web browser window, style and formatting applied to the content using tag. such as heading tag, paragraph tags, font tags. most of the part of body tag.

- SCRIPT TAG

The <STYLE> tag is used to define style information for an HTML document. Inside the </STYLE> elements you specify how HTML element should render in a browser each HTML document can contain multiple style tags. style sheets are important component of html that makes web page dynamic.

- LINK BREAK

Line breaks are different than most of the tags we have seen so far. A line break ends the line you are currently on and resumes on the next line. Placing within the code is the same as pressing the return key in a word processor. Use the tag within the  (paragraph) tag.

- HEADING TAG

HTML defines six levels of headings. A heading element implies all the font changes, paragraph breaks before and after, and any white space necessary to render the heading. The heading elements are H1, H2, H3, H4, H5, and H6 with H1 being the highest (or most important) level and H6 the least.

- FORM TAG

The <form> tag in HTML is used to create form for user input. There are many elements which are used within form tag. The HTML Top of Form<form> tag is used for creating a form for user input. A form can contain text fields, checkboxes, radio-buttons and more. Forms are used to pass user-data to a specified URL.

- TABLE TAG

The HTML tables allow web authors to arrange data like text, images, links, other tables, etc. into rows and columns of cells. The HTML tables are created using the <table> tag in which the <tr> tag is used to create table rows and <td> tag is used to create data cells. The elements under <td> are regular and left aligned by default.

SOFTWARE AND HARDWARE REQUIREMENT SPECIFICATION

❖ HARDWARE

Hardware is being is defined as under it contain how processor speed and how much RAM will be utilized for the better performance of the website.

- RAM :- 4GB
- HARDWARE :- 500GB or More
- INPUT :- Keyboard and Mouse
- SOFTWARE

Computer software, or simply software, is a collection of data or computer instructions that tell the computer how to work. This is in contrast to physical hardware, from which the system is built and actually performs the work.

The screenshot shows the phpMyAdmin interface for a local MySQL database. The browser address bar indicates the URL: localhost/phpmyadmin/index.php?route=/sql&db=audit&table=contact&pos=0. The interface displays the 'contact' table with the following data:

id	name	email	subject	message
1	roshani	achalthuikar@gmail.com	welrdgrtr
2	roshani	achalthuikar@gmail.com	welrdgrtr	awesrdtftgy
3	roshani	achalthuikar@gmail.com	welrdgrtr	awesrdtftgy
4	achal	achalthuikar@gmail.com	project	wertyghuj

The interface also shows a 'Query results operations' section with options like Print, Copy to clipboard, Export, Display chart, and Create view. The system tray at the bottom indicates a temperature of 30°C and a date of 22-05-2022.

TESTING AND VALIDATION

Testing can be defined as the process of testing various website elements such as design, specifications, functionalities, pages, and features to check their sanity and ensure they're not harming the performance of the site in any manner possible.

When done correctly and continuously, testing can not only improve your site visitors' overall experience but significantly increase conversions as well. Mentioned below are some reasons explaining the importance of testing and optimization.

Testing is not just about enhancing security features. Effective testing is more about making each and every component of the platform functionally robust and secure.

An efficient security testing of eCommerce applications can help your business identify and resolve multiple issues in advance, provide your services smoothly, avoid a number of financial risks, and comply with international standards to reduce cyber threats.

❖ Types of Testing

- Functional Testing

Functional testing is a group of testing types whereby the product gets tested against the functional requirements. Its primary goal is to simulate the way customers will use the system and identify problems – such as missing functionality, UI errors, or integration issues – that could ruin the user experience. Non-functional testing, on the other hand, focuses on different software attributes like usability, performance, and security. Generally, functional testing may involve particular challenges. Functional testing can be done manually or with automated test scripts.

- Accessibility Testing

It's important that the digital world be inclusive and easy for all to navigate, so that the one in five Americans with a physical disability (according to the US Census Bureau) can also access goods and services online. It's not only a good example of UX design and business, but it's even against the law for e-commerce websites to be inaccessible thanks to the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). There are several tools to use to determine how accessible a website is and to help understand how to improve it. Check out our blog post here on website accessibility.

- Usability Testing

In simple terms, usability is defined as the ease of use of any object. However, in web design, website usability is the ease with which your website visitors can navigate. A website optimized for usability facilitates the visitor in competing whatever goals they wanted achieve on the website without wasting any time.

Visitors to e-commerce websites are seeking information on the products they want to buy. However, they only care about websites that help them do so as fast and effortlessly as possible. They have little tolerance for slow and complex websites.

- Security Testing

Security testing is the process of testing a system or application to discover vulnerabilities that an attacker may exploit. Security testing is often conducted by a special team of security testers who are independent from the development process.

The main aim of a security testing is to identify areas where there are vulnerabilities in the system or application and fix them. The art of security testing is to find vulnerabilities without breaking the system or application.

Security Testing for E-Commerce Websites, is a process of testing the security of an E-Commerce website and its components like shopping cart, payment gateway, etc. which are usually attacked by hackers and malicious users.

- Performance Testing

This category of tests deals with understanding how an e-commerce website will behave in certain situations and with different load sizes (aka site traffic volumes). Does the site crash when too many people access it at once? How long does it take to load? It's been shown that by shaving down load times, website conversion rates may increase dramatically. Performance testing reveals how your website responds and reacts in various situations by allowing you to measure the page speed, scalability and stability. Importantly, this type of testing also helps you realize what areas need to be improved for a new level of performance. Therefore, it should be the top priority of every ecommerce website.

SYSTEM SECURITY MEASURES

❖ SECURITY MEASURES

Security measures such as policies and regulations allow an organization to maintain, implement, administer and audit its security. If there are any threats or attacks to the organization, the measures help mitigate any risks as well as quickly implement countermeasures.

- Integrity: ability to ensure that information being displayed on a Web site or a transmitting/ received over the Internet has not been altered in any way by an unauthorized party.
- Nonrepudiation: ability to ensure that e-commerce participants do not deny (repudiate) online action.
- Authenticity: ability to identify the identify of a person or entity with whom you are dealing on the internet.
- Confidentiality: ability to ensure that messages and data are available only to those authorized to view them.
- Privacy: ability to control use of information a customer provides about himself or herself to merchant.
- Availability: ability to ensure that an e-commerce site continues to function as intended.

IMPLEMENTATION, EVALUATION AND MAINTENANCE

❖ IMPLELEMTATION

- Implementation is the carrying out, execution, or practice of a plan, a method, or any design, idea, model, specification, standard or policy for doing something. As such, implementation is the action that must follow any preliminary thinking in order for something to actually happen.
- Inan information technology (IT) context, software or hardware implementation encompasses all the post-sale processes involved in something operating properly in its environment, including analyzing requirements, installation, configuration, customization, running, testing, systems integrations, user training, delivery and making necessary changes. The word "deployment" is sometimes used to mean the same thing.
- This project will resolve all the problems of related to availability of hospital easily. By implementation of this project a person will gather all information related to organ donation, he/ she can also get exact information of hospital of various states.

❖ EVALUATION

- Evaluation is a process that critically examines a program. It involves collection and analyzing information about a program activities, characteristics and outcomes. Its purpose is to make judgement about the program to improve its effectiveness and to improve programming decisions.
- The aim is to determine the relevance and level of achievement of project objectives, development effectiveness, efficiency, impact and sustainability. Evaluations also feed lessons learned into the decision-making process of the project stakeholders, including donors and national partners.
- OBJECTIVES OF PROJECT EVALUATION
 - Assure quality of project
 - Analyses of project implementation
 - Analyses the impact or change
 - Identify project risk
 - Asses and enhance project performance
 - Analyses of cost of project
 - To Check compatibility of project

❖ MAINTENANCE

- Maintenance can be classified as corrective, adaptive, or perfective. Corrective maintenance means repairing processing or performance failure or making changes because of previously uncorrected problems or false assumption. Adaptive maintenance means changing the program function. Perfective maintenance means enhancing the performance or modifying the program to respond to user additional or changing needs.
- Maintenance covers wide range of activities including correcting coding and design error, update documentation and test data and upgrading user's support. Many activities classified as maintenance are actual upgrading user support. Many activities classified as maintenance are actually enhancement.
- Maintenance means restoring something to its original condition. Unlike hardware, however software does not wear out it is corrected. Although software does not wear out like a piece of hardware, it eventually fails to perform because of cumulative maintenance.
